2. Band information

2.1 Promo text

Last Chance to Say Goodbye is rock, but not only just rock. The combination of a vocalist from the UK and three Swiss guys leads to sophisticated, creative riffs and melodies out of different styles in a way that hasn't been heard before. From moody ballads to metal-influenced rock songs, Last Chance to Say Goodbye does it all, resulting in songs that are each and every single one an individual masterpiece. So enjoy the ride through everything rock has to offer and be sure, it won't be your last chance to say goodbye...

2.2 Biography

The UK / Swiss rock band Last Chance to Say Goodbye was founded in the summer of 2007 by Dan (vocals, guitar), Sike (guitar), Phil (bass) and Boris (drums). Pulling influences from everything from the NWBHM, via frenetic punk rock to the more sedate emo scene, to American stadium rock, Last Chance to Say Goodbye quickly wrote their varied and creative opening 75 minute show and took to the road. After an intense touring schedule in early 2009 earning them 'hot ticket' status in Blick, and including shows at Zurich's Abart and Dynamo Werk 21, the band decided to take a summer hiatus to record their first EP. Recorded at the bands own Runway 28 Records studio and mastered at the hands of the infamous Abbey Road Studios in London, "No Time Like Now", Last Chance To Say Goodbyes first EP, was released to a sold out audience on March 12th 2010. And so now the second chapter begins...
